All Wars End Sometime

Generally it seems to the ordinary civilian, and no doubt to the ordinary member of the armed forces as well, as though this war that is going on right now is a little too much for the average mind to grasp in its entirety. So we tend to pick it apart into its details and different aspects—which perhaps isn't a bad way of tackling the subject, either.

For instance, we know that it has to end sometime. Wars have a way of coming to an end, just like everything else . . . although sometimes it seems as though that end is quite a while off yet.

And then people get to wondering what is going to happen to the men who are coming back from serving their country—what can be done, what is being done, or what will be done about seeing that they have some jobs to come back to?

In this connection it is interesting to note an announcement by the American Association of Manufacturers that one million men discharged from the services since Pearl Harbor have been hired by the aircraft manufacturing industry.

These veterans, according to an OWI report, have become "a real factor" in reducing the manpower shortage. Other workers in the plants are "proud to have the veterans working alongside them," and the ex-service men themselves get a real "lift" from being able to hold down a job despite their disabilities.

The first big job at hand, of course, is to win the war. But maybe it wouldn't do any harm to do a little thinking ahead once in a while about winning the peace.

Quotes of the Week

"All of us who believe in the continuation of the free enterprise system will be delighted to cooperate with those who are anxious to secure jobs for all after the war."—Philip Murray, president, CIO.

"We know that America is not going to be run for the benefit of business. We intend to run business for the benefit of America."—F. C. Crawford, chairman of the board, National Association of Manufacturers.

"Labor, although it has voluntarily accepted wartime regulation, is just as anxious as industry to see governmental restrictions lifted after the war."—William Green, president, AFL.

"Without American production, the United Nations could never have won the war."—Premier Joseph Stalin, of Russia.

New Jersey Farmer Sets Good Example

Describing his October feed subsidy as a "dole," Thomas C. Sanderson, Sussex County, Glenwood, N. J., dairy farmer, sent the entire amount to the Republican National Committee, Washington, D. C. With the check for $95.50, Mr. Sanderson sent a letter which read in part:

"I am sending this to your organization asking if you will please use the proceeds to elect some one with brains enough to understand the farmer's problem. I do not believe the consuming public wants to see my two boys, who are in the service and who volunteered, when they are released after the war, have to pay the cost of living in the form of taxes for these fellows who have stayed back home."

Earl Browder, general secretary of the Communist party, continues in public addresses to declare that "the voters of America should cry out in clear and loud voices to force President Roosevelt to run for a fourth term in 1944." In a recent speech at Bridgeport, Conn., Communist Browder is credited with asserting that "the only important issue of the 1944 campaign will be the question of the support of the 'Teheran Declaration'."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

No More Brass

On land or at sea our fighting men do their many chores by the sound of a bugle. All sorts of uncomplimentary epithets are used to designate the bugler, but nobody has yet been able to provide a satisfactory substitute for a bugle although recordings are used at some permanent bases.

Aboard ship the men fall in at the order of "Pipe muster." On land the bugler sounds "Assembly!" But no matter where the bugle is used thousands must be bought out of the money we are investing in War Bonds. Back the attack with an extra $100 Bond in the 3rd War Loan, U. S. Treasury Department.

Ridiculed Nazis Ban

'According to Plan'

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN.—Such phrases as "according to plan" and "Berlin is informed" have been banned from Danish press headlines on Berlin dispatches because the Danes find them amusing.

German censorship of the Nazi-controlled Danish press issued the new ban.

'According to plan' has been a favorite German explanation of withdrawals on the Russian front.

Mother Caught by Bomb Freed After 14 Hours

LONDON.—Mrs. Edith Durant, 26, pinned upon the body of her dead baby daughter by an iron bed rail in the wreckage of their bombed home, was freed 14 hours after German raiders hit six London districts.

Mrs. Durant flung herself across the child's body when the bombs struck. She was caught by the bed rail. A man in the same house also was freed 10 hours after the raid.

'Cans' Destroy Tanks

Containers that look like the rectangular varnish cans are now filled with high explosives and used as tank traps to destroy enemy tanks and as "booby traps" to further confound the enemy. These "booby traps" are put in the ground with trip wires attached which explode the charge which can so badly damage the treads of the tanks as to put those land monsters out of action.

Sulfa Found Aid In Head Colds

Drug Helps in Preventing Secondary Infections Becoming Chronic.

CHICAGO.—A prospect of relief through sulfa drugs of the lingering after-effects of the common cold is offered in reports in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Experiments in this field have been under way for several years.

Working in Baltimore and Los Angeles, two groups of physicians have found that sprays or drops of sulfa solutions appear to control the secondary infections of head passages that follow the initial sniffing and sneezing. Such infection becoming chronic in the sinuses, throat and ear channels, cost heavily in lost time and general health.

The primary cause of the common cold is somewhat of a mystery, and no claim is made for the sulfa drugs as a preventive of colds as such. But in their wake common bacteria, often present but relatively impotent in a healthy nose, dig in in the weakened tissues for bigger and better times. The sulfonamides are their enemies.

Test Proves Effective.

In Baltimore 103 nurses in the Johns Hopkins hospital who reported colds were treated alternately with a sulfadiazine spray and an untreated spray. The nurses did not know which they were receiving, and the experiment, thus "controlled" in the medical sense, was continued through the winters of 1942 and 1943 with these results:

Only 9.7 per cent of the nurses given sulfadiazine developed sinus symptoms. These cleared with no other treatment. Of those who did not receive the sulfa drug in their spray 30 per cent showed evidence of further infection, which did not go away until they too were given the drug. There were no sore throats among those treated, and only 8 per cent of them coughed. A tenth of the untreated had sore throats and 44 per cent coughed.

In Southern California four doctors treated 1,000 colds, a respectable total in such a vaunted climate. The sufferers were given a solution of sulfathiazole in desoxyephedrine hydrochloride. The latter, despite its impressive name, belongs to a family of tissue-shrinking drugs common in nasal remedies. It reduces swollen membranes, aids drainage and in the new solution helps the sulfa drug to do its work.

Halts Progress of Cold.

"If the solution is used early in colds," the doctors reported hopefully, "many are apparently aborted and the pressure pains in blocked sinuses relieved. Patients reported improvement the following day instead of the usual complaints after former methods of treatment."

A more complete treatment even had definite effect on chronic sinus infection, a stubborn and painful progeny of the ordinary cold, the doctors said. In such cases, the physician irrigated the sinuses—a long-established procedure—and followed this with injection of the sulfa solution. The result:

"In chronic sinusitis many cases reacted favorably where formerly surgery would have been indicated."

New Type Field Jacket

Adopted for the Army

PHILADELPHIA.—A new type field jacket for the army has been adopted by the war department, it was announced at the army quartermaster depot here. Production of the new jacket is expected to get under way soon, and it will eventually displace the present model.

It is expected that the government's initial order will be for 2,500,000 of these jackets, and the manufacturers will be required to furnish only the buttons and thread. All cloth will be supplied by the quartermaster corps.

The new jacket will have an outer shell of nine-ounce saaten cloth, which will be olive drab shade No. 7. This cloth will be wind-resistant and water-repellent, and the reverse side will be on the outside. The jacket will be lined with five-ounce olive drab wind resistant and water-repellent poplin, in contrast to the present jacket which is lined with 12-ounce wool lining cloth.

884 Nurse Schools Will Train Cadets

Program Approved by Public Health Service.

WASHINGTON.—The public health service has approved 884 nursing schools' applications, out of 1,017 to date, for the cadet nurse corps program. Under the Bolton act this program subsidizes private nursing education for women who pledge their professional service to essential military and civilian nursing for the duration of the war.

It was estimated that the approval of the training program in 884 schools would bring 85,648 student nurses into the cadet corps. Of these 41,625 will be beginner students, it was believed. The quota of the corps is 65,000 new student members by June, 1944.

The easiest part of recruitment has passed, in the last three months since the creation of the corps. However, the public health service believes that it may have to increase its quota to meet rising needs for more nurses on the battle and home fronts.

Miss Lucile Petry, who as director of the service's division of nurse education is also director of the cadet corps, has returned to Washington from two speaking engagements in Denver, before the Colorado State Nurses association and the Colorado State League of Nursing Education. Miss Petry reported that the nursing schools in Denver have pooled their educational facilities so that 300 students are being trained at a single instruction center.

This step she praised as "progressive." It was not only a help toward solving the teacher shortage and general manpower difficulties but also a tonic to nursing education itself. Acceleration in nursing education brings about improvement in method, she explained.

Widow of Longstreet Is Majoring in Riveting

MARIETTA, GA.—The gray haired widow of a famed Confederate general is the South's latest addition to the civilian war labor force.

Refusing to tell her age—except to chuckle: "I haven't reached the century mark yet"—Mrs. Helen Dortch Longstreet, whose husband, Gen. Robert E. Lee's chief followers, dons slacks and cap each morning, leaves her home in a Marietta trailer camp and reports for instruction at a riveting school.

"I am majoring in assembly, fabrication and riveting," she explained. "The course usually requires three months, but I believe I will be ready for graduation in two weeks. I'm the head of my class; in fact, I'm the only one in it."

Since the death of General Longstreet in 1904, Mrs. Longstreet has been active in many affairs, serving as a newspaper reporter, free-lance writer on political subjects, postmistress at Gainesville and, during World War I, an employee of the Veterans Bureau in Washington.

The death rate from typhoid per hundred thousand of population was 0.50 in 1940, 0.37 in 1941 and 0.25 in 1942.

An "Overseas Lament arrives via Pvt. Frank Ruschinsky—

"Somewhere in Africa I am well and hope you are all the same and enjoying the winter weather.

"Hope you enjoy this little verse—
"Can't write a thing—
The censor's to blame;
Just say I'm well
And sign my name.
Can't tell where we sailed from,
Can't mention the date,
And can't even number
The meals I ate.
Can't say where we'll land,
Couldn't inform you if we came by land.

Can't mention the weather,
Can't say if there's rain;
All military secrets must
Secrets remain.
Can't have a flashlight
To guide me at night;
Can't smoke a cig,
Except out of sight.
Can't keep a diary
For such is a sin;
Can't keep the envelope
Your letter came in.
Can't say for sure, folks,
Just what I can write,
So I'll call this a letter
And close with good night.
"I hope you all have a merry
Christmas and a happy New Year.
"Saying 'hello' to all my friends,
I'll close for this time.
"I haven't gotten the paper as yet, but I hope it comes soon. It sure helps the morale of the fellows here
when they get the home town papers."

Pfc. Glenn W. Fox, in Italy, sends greetings and says he enjoys getting the News.

Ens. C. A. Wolfenbarger, home since New Year's Eve on a ten day leave from Chapel Hill, N. C., started his journey with a glider ride and finished it by train.

A notice from Ninth Naval District headquarters at Great Lakes, Ill., states that Dr. Wilfred A. Biron, who has been home on leave for the Christmas holidays, has been promoted to Pharmacist's Mate third class.

Pvt. Robert Burke has been home on a ten-day furlough since Tuesday of last week, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Burke. He will leave Sunday for Mitchell Field, N. Y.

Howard R. Dibble, S 1/c, who is overseas with a naval construction battalion, would like his friends to get in touch with him via Fleet Postmaster, New York. Howard is working 12 to 14 hours a day, he reports.

Pvt. Robert E. Bartlett writes via New York APO, to say, "Please send my paper to my new address. I like to see what's going on back home."

Cpl. Gordon DeBoer, Ft. Bliss, Texas, says, "I received your letter and information today and was very happy to have them.
"It is nice for one in the service to know where his buddies are stationed.
"There are only two that are within 'pass' distance from here, and they are Fred Hawkins and Bert Jordan. I may get to see them in the near future."

Two letters from 1st Lt. A. W. Kucera, to his father, A. L. Kucera, Peite Lake, have been loaned to the News.

"Somewhere in New Guinea
"My Thanksgiving dinner this year was one of the best ones I've had the good fortune to enjoy since I left the States. . . . We had several large turkeys for the company, and then the cooks prepared a very tasty dressing; In addition we also had cranberry sauce and all the trimmings that go with a real Thanksgiving dinner.
"Last year I had 'bully beef' (Australian corned beef), so it was quite a treat this year.
"As you notice by the heading, I'm in New Guinea again. I might add that the conditions are considerably different this time, compared to the last time I was here.
"I could go on and tell you a lot of interesting 'tales'.
"Day before yesterday I received two very tasty tins of chocolates from Tony's boys, Richard and Donald. . . . The Xmas packages are starting to arrive now, and all of the boys are really receiving some wonderful gifts (a good percentage are tasty foods).
"Somewhere in the S. W. P.
"Well, it's Sunday morn, and a good time to catch up on some correspondence. We don't have church until the evening here, due to the fact that the chaplain has so many places to preach, and it takes quite a lot of time to cover the places. Incidentally, I've reformed and am a regular church goer these days."

"Every thing is going along fine over here and am enjoying the best of health. The other day I happened to find out that 'Don' Minto was located around here, and called up his organization trying to locate him. I was pretty lucky, because I contacted him on the phone and had quite a chat with him. I invited him over for dinner today, but am not sure where he'll be able to make it or not, due to the difficulty in his obtaining transportation. If I had known while I was still in Australia, I could have gotten in touch with him very easily, as he was stationed nearby. I never discovered that till day before yesterday.
"Miss Phyllis Stone, Una Merkel, Gary Cooper and Andy Marcar, all famous Hollywood stars, were here and put on a show for us last night. They had a very fine show and all the men were pleased with them. They even made a hit with the "Aussies." We've had several top-notch entertainers here in the past few weeks, and 'believe-you-me,' it is really appreciated by the soldiers. —"Bud."

Pfc. Robert (Chips) Gross, with a handwriting that is the envy of more than one member of the Antioch News staff, reports from Indiantown Gap, Pa.—

"Sixteen of us have been chosen to help train another group. This makes my fourth time in this camp in eight months. It's getting to be my second home, almost. Sure is cold here in these mountains. So far there hasn't been any snow, but there's plenty of rain and it is freezing as it hits. Everything is covered with ice. . . . I hope all is well in Antioch."

Sidney Card, HA 1/c, sends a letter from the Pacific theater of warfare—
"To the folks in Antioch—
"Just received your Christmas greeting and would like to say thanks to all who sent it, and to the News and American Legion for sending the paper.
"Today is the first day of winter back home, and the folks are probably wondering how much snow will come. Over here it is the first day of summer and if it gets any hotter than it is now we'll have to wear asbestos suits.
"Things are quite calm over here now. We haven't had a visit from the Nips in almost two months, and that's good compared to the previous months spent in this area.
"I've been over here eight months and am anxious to get back to the good ole U. S.; the sooner, the better."

Pvt. George Sterbenz is impressed with life in the tropics, but not too favorably, according to the following: "I am somewhere in New Guinea. This island is far from being the beautiful, sunny tropics. The insects drive a man insane. The centipedes here are about four inches long. I haven't seen any larger, but there are some larger ones.
"We are living in tents and every time it rains our floors become a mud hole.
"George is hoping to look up some of the boys who may be stationed in his vicinity. —V—
"British Isles
"I have received a large bundle of papers that was forwarded to me from Camp Peary, Va., and enjoyed reading all the news from away back.
"I must say I was surprised to get them, for I had left word at your office when I was home on my ten-day leave that I was changing my address and did not know what it would be. So thanks for a pleasant surprise and a lot of reading material.
"Here's hoping that this will be over soon and I will be able to thank you in person."
—James C. Holiman, MM 2/c.

Lt. Robert A. Brogan, who was here from St. Joseph, Mo., on a nine-day furlough, left yesterday morning to return to duty.

Among the 15 Illinois men who recently arrived at the Blythe, Calif., army air base for heavy bombardment combat crew training that will prepare the way for more B-24 Liberator Bomber raids on Axis strongholds, is S/Sgt. Norton R. L. Bassett, 34, gunner, son of Mrs. Rose Bassett of Antioch. Sgt. Bassett, who was a salesman in civilian life, entered the service in February, 1941.

Irish Moss, clogging the waters from Maine to North Carolina, is being raked from the sea and marketed. One of the chief uses of the moss before prohibition was in the "fining" or removing of malt cloud from beers and ales. High import costs forced East Coast moss into commercial recognition several years ago. As far back as 1835 Irish Moss was imported from Ireland as a cure for tuberculosis at a cost of between one and two dollars a pound.

Clean Enameled Fixtures
Use soap and hot water and a stiff bristle brush to clean enameled fixtures. Always cleanse the sink with hot water and soap immediately after using. This should be done whether your sink has the acid-resisting enameled finish which is impervious to acids unless allowed to remain for some time, or whether your sink finish is regular enamel.

Motor Brakes Fail, But Driver Doesn't

BERKELEY, CALIF. — A big bus became a roller coaster here when its brakes failed. The vehicle careened down a hill at 60 miles an hour. But it coasted right up another hill. As it started to roll backward again, Driver Frank Olson cranked the wheels and put the vehicle in a front yard—undamaged.

Mental Telepathy Makes 'Ma' Happy

Son Who Told of Corregidor Doom, Writes Home.

BROOKLYN.—You can't tell Mrs. Minnie Strobing that mental telepathy is just something cooked up by crackpots.

She was telling congratulatory visitors that she's had two-way mental telepathic communication between her bedroom and a Jap concentration camp, somewhere, presumably, in the Philippines.

For it was in her bedroom, when she couldn't sleep nights, that in recent weeks she kept tapping off messages, by means of her "mental transmitter," to her son, Irving Strobing, the Brooklyn signal corps youth who sent the last and heart-rending message before the fall of Corregidor.

Perhaps you remember it. In part it read:

"Just made broadcast to Manila to arrange surrender. The jig is up. Everyone is bawling like a baby. They are piling dead and wounded in our tunnel. Arm's weak from pounding key, long hours, no rest, tired. Can't think at all. . . . I know how a mouse feels, caught in a trap."

Last January 30 the terrible uncertainty the parents had endured was ended by the war department, which informed them that Irving was alive, a prisoner.

Since then Mrs. Strobing nightly has broadcast her mental dot-dashes to her son.

"And he answered he was writing me," the mother explained. "But no word came, though every night I sent him more messages." Recently, however, Irving responded to his mother's telepathic bulletins. The card, undated, bearing Japanese postal marks, and written and signed in ink in a hand indisputably his own, read:

"Dear Folks: How are things? O.K. here. Wish were home. May be soon. Hope allotment still is coming. Don't worry. Will see you again. My thoughts are always of you. Much love. Irving."

That's the happiest ending to anything Minnie Strobing has read in all her life.

New British Tank-Buster Makes 'Tiger' Easy Mark

LONDON.—Great Britain's new "secret" tank-busting gun was disclosed to be a 17-pounder capable of blowing the turret from a German tank at 1,500 yards.

An official statement asserted that "it is the complete answer to the Tiger," the German 60-ton Mark VI tank.

British ordnance experts developed the weapon to counter the Germans' heavy armor and big guns. Its first battle test was in Africa.

The statement said the first report was that "the 17-pounder only once has been fired in anger, and on that occasion the third shot blew the turret off a tank at about 1,500 yards."

Other reports spoke of the gun's "astounding accuracy."

The gun measures slightly more than 24 feet from the muzzle to the end of the trail and fires fixed ammunition—shell and cartridge fitted together, as with rifle ammunition. It has semi-automatic breech action, facilitating a high rate of fire.

French Sabotage Rising, Nazis Harsher on Jews

LONDON.—The rising tide of sabotage in France has driven the Germans and their Vichy collaborators to the sternest repressive measures, including new attacks on Jews and a decree giving mobile guards permission to shoot on sight.

The situation the Vichy government is struggling to control was described over the Paris radio and recorded in London by Reuters in these words: "Harvests are burning, railway lines are being blown sky high and trains are derailed."

The blow at the Jews came from Darquier de Pellepoix, Vichy commissioner for Jewish affairs, who was quoted by DNB over the Paris radio as urging the expatriation and economic and social elimination of Jews as a fundamental policy.

OPA Eases Ration Coupon On Domestic Kerosene

WASHINGTON.—The Office of Price Administration has authorized local ration boards to issue kerosene coupons for domestic cooking and lighting purposes without issuance and expiration dates so they can be used as long as they last.

OPA also increased the maximum kerosene ration for domestic cooking to 30 gallons a month for the first seven persons. The present maximum of 24 gallons for six or seven persons has been found inadequate in many instances.

Soldiers Like It In Matanuska

Troops Who Helped Harvest Big Crop Want to Come Back After War.

PALMER, ALASKA.—Troops helping to bring in the Matanuska valley's record harvest this autumn have decided almost unanimously to return here after the war and purchase farms.

Private Raymond A. Weiss of Red Lake Falls, Minn., working behind a potato digger in a river-bottom field close under the soaring white snow peaks of the Matanuska range, smiled when asked if he intended to come back to Matanuska after demobilization.

"I sure am," he said emphatically. "I'm a farmer myself, and I know a good thing when I see it. The Aleutians aren't so hot, but this Matanuska country is o.k."

Troops have been working here since spring. They helped put in the crops, helped cultivate them, and now are participating in the harvest. They have had opportunity to become acquainted with the best and the worst sides to farming here, and the majority of them are enthusiastic about settling in the valley. They tell you that in their opinion prospects are better here for a limited number of small farmers than in most places in the States.

In on Ground Floor.

"This is a new country and a man can get in on the ground floor," said Corp. Chadwick Leighton, Spokane, Wash. "It isn't worn out, or with all the best land grabbed, like in a lot of farming areas outside."

Leighton is a member of the famed Castner's Cutthroat Scouts, and when interviewed had just come down out of the mountains. Wearing a buckskin shirt, a battered campaign hat and a 45 Colt in a quick-draw holster, he looked more like a sordid hunter than the sordid hunters themselves.

Many of the troops working here have made lifelong friends among the valley farmers, and several have become engaged to farm girls.

"Why not?" says Private Jim Buchanan of Los Angeles. "The farmers pay us $1.25 an hour, including our board. Besides, there are dances and parties, and plenty of hunting and fishing. It's a swell deal, and I aim to come back and buy a quarter section of land and start clearing it."

Climate Is Mild.

The mild Matanuska climate, the abundance of game and fish in the area, and the richness of the soil are a revelation to many soldiers formerly stationed in the Aleutians, who were of the opinion that the entire territory was as bleak and inhospitable as Adak, Amchitka and Umnak. Officials of the Farmers' Co-operative association, considering the 50,000 acres of uncleared land in the valley and the ready market for all farm produce, are especially pleased by the interest soldiers are showing in Matanuska.

"They are the kind of men we need here," said M. D. Snodgrass, veteran Matanuska farmer and former superintendent of the government agricultural experiment station here. "They know how to work, they have farm backgrounds, and they are self-reliant. Their decision to settle down here after the war is the finest compliment the community has had."

Boy, Aged 14, Veteran of Both War and Marriage

DENVER.—Thomas B. Harris of Denver, at 14, is a veteran of both Midway and matrimony.

He fought with the marines at Midway, married a girl one year his junior, and now is a party to an annulment proceeding.

Harris saw two of his buddies shot down near him at Midway, then the navy discovered his age, and he was discharged. Returning home, he met Edna M. Pfost, and they were married last August 29.

Now Harris' mother, Mrs. Helen Harris, seeks annulment of the marriage on grounds her son was underage.

British Will Draft Men To Work in Coal Mines

LONDON.—The British government announced that it must draft men to work in the coal mines on the same basis that they are called up for the armed forces.

The minister of fuel and power, Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, opening a two-day debate on fuel in the house of commons, said that voluntary recruiting had failed to produce enough men to keep the mines operating at the required speed. He added that, while compulsory recruiting was necessary, the voluntary system also would be retained.

Finland Will Increase War Debt Installments

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Finland has agreed to increase its war debt payments to this country by more than $42,000 a year for 20 years in order to overtake a two-year lapse caused by the Russian-Finnish war.

The postponement, authorized by congress in June, 1941, involved an aggregate sum of $845,287.24.

Finland, only country still making war debt payments, still owes the United States about $9,000,000.

Home of Marie Corelli To Be Sold at Auction

LONDON.—The Stratford-on-Avon estate of the late Marie Corelli, novelist, including the Venetian gondola which she imported complete with gondolier, will soon be sold at auction because dwindling royalties from her books no longer make maintenance possible, it was learned.

Her novels, such as "Sorrow of Satan," sold nearly a million copies around the beginning of the 20th century, and her will ordered the estate kept intact as a showplace. It is near the Stratford-on-Avon properties once inhabited by William Shakespeare.

Swiss Cheese Is Cured In Six Weeks, New Way

MADISON, WIS.—A rindless natural Swiss cheese which promises to revolutionize the manufacture of cheese after the war made its debut in Madison. The cheese is a result of six months' research by the state department of agriculture. It is heat-cured in six weeks, yet has a flavor comparable to cheese cured for six months under current methods.

Housewife Shoots Black Bear Raiding Beehives

EMPORIUM, PA.—A 200-pound black bear's sweet tooth and lack of fear for a woman cost it its life.

Mrs. Leona Lyon, annoyed by raids of bruins upon their beehives, lay in wait with a rifle and killed one of them.

She said the bears had destroyed more than 500 pounds of honey and knocked over considerable equipment.

Nazi Army Death Toll Is Set at 4,000,000

LONDON.—About four million Germans have been killed in this war, or more than twice as many as were killed during World War I, Lord Selborne, minister of economic warfare, declared in a recent speech.

Addressing an audience at Gosport, the British minister said that nine-tenths of the Nazi losses had been suffered in Russia.

"I used to wait until spring to buy my fertilizer. But, times have changed! WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allied Chiefs Map Invasion Strategy As Axis Staggers From Heavy Blows; American Troops Tighten Jap Noose By Occupation of New Britain Island

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

LABOR: U. S. Runs Rails

Railroads fell into government hands as President Roosevelt moved quickly to avert strikes which threatened to tie U. S. freight and passenger transportation into a knot, and return to private ownership was promised after passage of the emergency.

FDR acted when the brotherhoods of conductors, switchmen and firemen and engineers refused his offer to arbitrate their dispute even though two other brotherhoods, the trainmen and engineers, accepted the proposal and were awarded a nine cents an hour wage increase and a one-week vacation with pay.

Also accepting FDR's arbitration offer at the zero hour were 15 non-operating unions representing 1,100,000 workers, who agreed to the government's recent wage increase from 10 cents an hour to the lowest paid to 4 cents an hour to the highest paid, but also asked for overtime beyond 40 hours.

Steel Workers Back

Answering an appeal of President Roosevelt, 170,000 striking steel workers trooped back to the nation's mills after a three-day walkout, in protest over the War Labor board's refusal to promise payment of new wage raises back to the date the old contracts expired.

In appealing to the CIO's United Steel Workers of America, FDR did so on the understanding that any new pay boosts would date back to the time the old pacts ended. If any such back payments chewed into steel company finances, FDR promised price revisions.

The steel workers demanded a 17 cents an hour raise over the present 78 cents an hour rate. If granted, the increase would crack the War Labor board's so-called "Little Steel" formula, limiting pay boosts to 15 per cent over the January, 1941, levels.

AGRICULTURE: CCC Spends More

Fulfilling commitments to farmers to support higher prices of crops and livestock products, the Commodity Credit Corporation increased its loans and purchases to $1.2 billion dollars for the fiscal year 1943.

In addition to stimulating production, CCC said its expenditures assisted OPA in maintaining price ceilings, particularly for vegetable oils, dairy products, poultry products and meats.

Prices principally were supported by loans to farmers on commodities stored against civilian and military requirements, and by lend-lease purchases. Of 2 billion, 700 million dollars worth of commodities CCC bought, about 1 1/2 billion dollars were for lend-lease account.

Beans and Peas

Despite record production of beans and peas in 1943, U. S. civilians will receive a per capita supply in 1944 equal to the average for 1935-39. Of the 23,000,000 bags of beans and 6,800,000 bags of peas which will be available in 1944, U. S. military services will get 3,441,000 bags of beans and 300,000 bags of peas.

U. S. Allies, liberated areas and U. S. territories will receive 7,035,000 bags of beans and 3,512,000 bags of peas, with Russia's share approximating 3,024,000 bags of beans and 723,000 bags of peas, and Great Britain's 872,000 bags of beans and 509,700 bags of peas.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

FEDERAL PAYROLL: Number of employees on the federal payroll declined in October for the fourth consecutive month, now standing at 2,952,013, as compared with 2,960,019 a month earlier.

FREIGHT CARS: New freight cars on order on December 1 numbered 36,253, as compared with 29,108 on the same date of 1942. Locomotives on order also increased.

PENICILLIN: A chemical company in Terre Haute, Ind., is beginning production of penicillin, the new wonder drug that is derived from a mold.

HAY: Race horse owners have to pay so much for horse feed that they are worried about hijackers. It is reported from Florida that motorcycle policemen guard trucks loaded with hay, oats and carrots.

INVASION: Eisenhower Chief

"We will win the European war in 1944."

With these words Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower assumed command of the Allied forces for the invasion of the western gate of Hitler's Fortress Europe.

As Eisenhower went to work in preparation for the knockout blow, he was aided by a staff which assisted him in driving the Axis from North

Gen. Eisenhower

Africa and Sicily, and in invading Italy. As his deputy, General Eisenhower has British Air Chief Marshal Arthur Tedder. To U. S. Lieut. Gen. Carl Spaatz has gone the task of strategic bombing of Nazi supply and communications centers. And in charge of British ground forces is tough, swaggering Gen. Bernard Montgomery.

In the nation's capital, Senator Edwin Johnson (Colo.) said he was informed U. S. troops will make up 73 per cent of the invasion forces.

Naval Action

Naval action featured the war in Europe, with Germany's 26,000-ton battleship, the Scharnhorst, going to the bottom off the North Cape of Norway under the heavy salvo of Britain's home fleet commanded by Adm. Sir Bruce A. Fraser.

Fighting in rain and mud, U. S. and British forces continued to punch holes in the Nazis' winter line in southern Italy, but advances were slow against a fanatical enemy battling to the last, and covering his withdrawals with sheets of blazing fire from flame throwers.

The Scharnhorst sailed from her hiding place in one of Norway's vaulting fjords to prey on an Allied convoy bound for Russia and was surprised by the British fleet. While His Majesty's cruisers shadowed the Scharnhorst from one side, the 35,000-ton Duke of York and other units moved up from the other. Caught between two fires, the big German battle-ship was finished off by the British cruiser Jamaica.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: Vise Close

While the Tokyo radio bleated that Japan's No. 1 South Pacific base of Rabaul must be held at all costs, U. S. troops tightened their foothold on the western end of New Britain island on which it stands.

With Allied forces already ringing Rabaul in by occupation of central New Guinea to the west and the Solomons to the east, the noose was drawn still tighter by actual landings on New Britain itself, first by the U. S. Sixth army at Arawe and second by U. S. marines on Cape Gloucester.

Long a feeder point for Jap positions on New Guinea and the Solomons, U. S. occupation of the north and south shores of the western end of New Britain tended to cripple the elaborate barge routes which the enemy set up to shuttle supplies to their embattled troops.

RUSSIA: One-Two

Delivering a stiff one-two punch, Russian armies struck at the Germans in the north and south, knocking them off balance in both sectors. Greatest surprise came in the south, where Gen. Nicholas Vatutin's first Ukrainian army struck below the main battle line about the rail junction of Zhitomir, driving a deep dent in the enemy's positions before the Nazis could rush up reserves.

To the north, the Reds continued their pressure around Vitebsk, former anchor for the Germans' Baltic lines running up to Leningrad.

WAR PRODUCTION: Pattern Changes

Principally because Allied armies have swung from the defensive to the offensive, the pattern of war production in the U. S. has changed, with emphasis on ships, planes, heavy construction material and signal equipment, and de-emphasis on tanks, small arms and anti-aircraft artillery.

Ships of all kinds are needed for landing operations and supply; more planes are required for covering expanding fronts; heavy construction material is a must for building operational bases in occupied territories, and signal equipment has to be furnished to round out the services' growth.

On the other hand, shipbuilders' demands for steel and the effectiveness of anti-tank guns has led to a cut in tank output. Peak production has resulted in an overabundance of small arms and munitions. Improbability of enemy air raids over the U. S. and the increasing defensive strength of our air force have determined reductions in the anti-aircraft artillery program.

WHISKY: Control New Brands

The saddened lot of U. S. whisky drinkers was made lighter with OPA's decision to slap price ceilings on new brands making their debut since March, 1942, when controls were set over the old brands.

OPA set flat dollars and cents ceilings plus federal taxes at processors' levels for all bottled in bond, straight whisky and blends of straight whiskies estimated at 80 proof. Wholesalers and retailers were allowed markups, plus state taxes.

Similar ceilings have been scheduled for new brands of rum, brandy, gin, cordials and liqueurs, OPA said.

CIO: Political Action

Seeking to mobilize 14 million labor votes, the CIO has organized a political action committee, headed by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' chief, Sidney Hillman.

Declaring the object of the committee is to organize labor for obtaining effective representation in government, Hillman said immediately after the congress from the congress from the die-hard Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats who have defaulted in their duties not alone to labor but to the whole nation on home-front issues.

Already engaged in joint or similar action with the AFL in many states, the CIO committee is seeking support of the railroad brotherhoods and such farm groups as the National Grange. Funds totaling $700,000 already have been raised.

News Oddities

When frightened thoroughbreds could not be budged from their stalls during a fire in Atlanta, Ga., recently, the caretaker remembered the old adage that a white mule can lead horses from a burning building.

Haltering a white mule from a nearby stable, the caretaker led the animal into the burning building, and, sure enough, the panicked, neighing horses quieted down and followed the white mule out.

Skidding on a hill during a sleet storm near Methuen, Mass., a sanding truck ripped through the side of a house and came to a stop, with its hood over the bed of a startled young couple. No one was hurt.

HOGS: New Floor Temporary

The government's extension of the "floor" price for hogs from 200 to 300 pounds is a temporary measure designed to provide farmers with an equitable market during the present high tide of shipments, War Food administration declared.

When the glut is cleared, WFA said, the government will again go back to the 200 to 270 pound floor range, but farmers will be notified of the change.

Because of congestion, WFA said, some farmers have been unable to obtain permits for shipping hogs, and they have hesitated to send their animals to more distant markets because of shrinkage losses and higher transportation costs.

GOODS DISTRIBUTION

Communities that have been finding difficulty in getting their share of such scarce items as flashlights, bobby pins, cooking utensils and electric appliances can expect a larger supply soon. The War Production board has asked manufacturers and wholesalers to make voluntary changes in their allotment schedules.

Shortages are particularly acute in cities that have expanded in the last year or so, because of an influx of war workers.

Lidice Fugitive Believed Victim Of Nazi Police

Trailed 800 Miles Across Europe After Wreck of Czech Village.

LONDON.—One of the few men who knew the full story of what happened at Lidice when that Czech village was wiped out by the Nazis has vanished in France, probably a victim of the Gestapo agents who trailed him 800 miles across Europe.

In a big steel filing cabinet on the third floor of an old brownstone building here in London he is listed as "Karl Horak," but his true identity, known to fewer than a dozen persons, is hidden among the names on the Lidice town roll.

Bit by bit the Czech intelligence agents here have pieced together the story of his 12-month flight from Czechoslovakia, toward Britain, where he had hoped to tell his story, but the trail disappeared three months ago with word that he was crossing the German frontier to France.

No further reports have been received from the underground network which helped him fight sickness, hunger, despair and always the Gestapo as he made his way across Germany.

But before he vanished Horak told part of his story to underground leaders and from their reports the intelligence officers have been able to piece together a fair picture of what happened at Lidice.

Watched From Forest. Horak didn't face a Nazi firing squad in St. Martin's churchyard at Lidice because he had lingered over a glass of wine in Prague and missed a bus home. He hitched a ride part way, then cut across the fields through Krivoklat forest.

On the forest's edge he stumbled into a German patrol and hid in the underbrush. The sun was just rising when he reached a hill overlooking Lidice.

An angry glow rose from the valley in which the village nestled. He heard the screams of women and children being carted away in trucks to concentration camps and Nazi "educational centers."

Next he saw a pile of bodies in St. Martin's churchyard. He watched great fires sweep through the town. He saw Nazi artillery blast the town into rubble. From his vantage point on the hill he watched Lidice die.

Father Among Victims. His father was among the dead, along with Father Stemberger, the priest; Otomansky, the schoolmaster; Seifelder, the grocer; Suchy, the verger, and Silhar, the publican.

When the sun was high, Horak moved back into the forest and headed for Prague, keeping to byways and back trails. In Prague he went to an underground post, and told what he had seen. He said he was determined to get to England.

Three days after Lidice, Horak began his flight. How he managed to get to France is a closely guarded underground secret, but there were days when he hid in forests and barns, slept in the rain and snow. Was cold and went hungry.

A Czech intelligence officer moved Horak's dossier from the active to the inactive files. His name was put with the martyrs of Lidice.

Boy Lost for 40 Hours

Tells of Wanderings

CARLISLE, PA. — Eight-year-old John Coover, recovering from exhaustion in the Carlisle hospital, told state police of wandering for 40 hours in the rugged South mountains before he was found in a field a mile from his home near Newville.

He said he became lost shortly after he went into the woods for firewood Thursday afternoon about 3 p. m., and spent the time trying to find his way out. Some apples he found in an orchard Saturday morning provided his only food.

Scratches on his legs apparently were the only ill effects of the boy's experience, and hospital authorities said he would remain at the hospital for several days until he fully recovered his strength.

Hero Parachutist Makes

Daring Rescue Effort

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC. — Lieut. John M. Donegan, holder of an air medal and oak leaf cluster for 48 combat missions with the Fifth air force, also holds the Soldier's Medal for an extraordinary attempt at rescue.

The navigator on Donegan's Mitchell medium bomber attempted a parachute jump, but his chute fouled. Donegan clasped the man around the body and also jumped in an attempt to carry the navigator with him and save his life. But the sharp fall tore the man loose from Donegan's grasp, and the navigator fell to his death. Donegan is from Phoenix, Ariz.

'Hit-Run Victim' Robs

Samaritan Offering Aid

CHICAGO.—Playing the role of Good Samaritan proved costly for Mrs. Harriet Gill, 28, a war worker. Driving home from work she stopped her car and went to aid a man lying in the street, whom she believed a victim of a hit-and-run driver. The "victim," however, jumped up, pointed a gun at Mrs. Gill and stole her two rings and $60.

Sets Rabbit Trap And Gets a Skunk

LEMOYNE, PA.—Howard Horton was bothered with rabbits in his Victory garden. He appealed to the state game commission which furnished a trap. But instead of a rabbit, he caught a skunk. Horton appealed to the game commission, which came to the rescue again and removed the skunk.

Blind Workers Do Bit to Help Win

All Our Fighting Men Not In Armed Service.

PONTIAC, ILL.—All of Uncle Sam's war-plant workers are not employed inside factory walls, nor are all his fighting men in the armed forces.

A Pontiac man's nimble fingers daily fill orders from four war plants. Part of his success is due to the instruction he has received from another man who is waging war against the forces of despair and incompetency that come to those who have lost their sight.

Both men are blind.

William Leister of Pontiac has been blind since the fifth grade; Earl Knowles, an instructor in the state division of visitation of adult blind, has never known what it is to see. But both guided their families through the depression following World War I and are now working in their own fashion for victory in the present world conflict.

Mr. Leister has two daughters; Mr. Knowles, two daughters and a son in the army air force.

Mr. Leister has been making brooms for the last 35 years and selling them from door to door in Pontiac. He gradually extended his small business to the larger fields of Pontiac business houses and those in surrounding towns, and is now filling orders from four defense plants.

Mr. Knowles taught him hand-drawn brush making two years ago, and some of his brushes, of which he makes 32 different types, have gone as far as North Africa in soldiers' kits. His latest skill is leather craft, which Mr. Knowles also taught him.

He has overcome any fear of unfamiliar and unseen things so completely that he makes his own plumbing and electrical repairs about his home—jobs which many men with vision are afraid to tackle.

Pries Bomb Loose While

Suspended in Mid-Air

LONDON.—Second Lieut. Owen G. Smith, 27, Norman, Okla., suspended himself from a catwalk over the open bomb-bay doors of his Flying Fortress 23,000 feet over Germany to pry loose an incendiary bomb which could have destroyed the plane, the U. S. army disclosed.

Lieutenant Smith, a bombardier who performed the feat during a raid on Frankfurt, said it gave him opportunity to realize a childhood ambition to become a trapeze artist.

One hand was frostbitten and his oxygen supply ran out before he finished the job.

Sergeant Robert Ross, Cleveland, the ball turret gunner, noticed the bomb dangling from the bomb-bay a few seconds after Lieutenant Smith had dropped his lead over the target. He queried Lieutenant Smith through the interphone.

"Who are you saving that one for, Lieutenant?"

Lieutenant Smith immediately donned his parachute and worked on the jammed bomb until it fell away.

Handcuffs Girl as He Did

Jap and Forgets His Key

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO. — Sergeant Thomas Carroll of Camp Reynolds, Pa., showed Myrtle Barringer how he handcuffed a prisoner to return him to camp. He locked the handcuffs on Miss Barringer, then discovered the keys were in a pair of trousers he had sent to a tailor. The young woman accompanied him to the tailor shop, only to find it closed. At the tailor's residence, Carroll learned the key was at the shop. Three hours after the demonstration started, the tailor retrieved the key and Miss Barringer's hands were freed.

Husband-Beater Says

She's Sorry for Act

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Carol B. Baker said she sometimes stepped on her husband's face while wearing high-heeled shoes but "always cried bitterly later in repentance."

She asked the state pardon board to release him from prison. He is serving five years for bigamy.

During her quarrels, she would "throw anything at him that was handy." So it was her fault, she said, that he left home and married.

So the Coyotes Are Safe!

SALT LAKE CITY.—The predatory animal board says thieves used to steal coyotes from government traps. Now they take the traps.

Fish Contained Seagull

ROCKLAND, MAINE.—Chen Pierce speared one of the largest skates to come out of South Cove. When he cut open the fish, out popped a live seagull.

Paralytic Makes Come-Back Using 'Hunt and Peck'

Winning His Battle After Years of Helplessness In a Hospital.

TORONTO.—Four years ago John Patrick Murphy was picked up by policemen from a Toronto street. A woman standing near muttered: "Aren't these drunks disgusting," and an ambulance took him, unidentified, to a hospital.

John Patrick Murphy wasn't drunk. He was completely stricken by paralysis. His brain was clear, but he couldn't move a finger, he couldn't even frame his own name with his lips. He did try, and from the results he was booked for two years in that hospital as "John Murray" of no account.

John Patrick Murphy of Timmins, Ont., telegrapher and radio announcer, vanished. A wife and a nine-year-old son waited at home, dazed, incredulous that he should not return from a business trip to Toronto.

In a hospital safe was a wallet that could have cleared up the mystery—but no one discovered the secret pocket with the cards of identification.

His Mind Was Clear.

As John Patrick tapped out on an alphabet board in Our Lady of Mercy Hospital for Incurables the other day: "Even from the first there was little pain—only shock. My mind was clear."

At first, he couldn't even swallow and was kept alive by intravenous feeding.

At the end of eight months he could swallow and a little feeling had returned to his left side.

He still couldn't grip a pen or pencil.

One day his wife, in her search for him, passed within two blocks of the hospital. She couldn't know that her husband might almost have seen her from his wheel chair.

John Patrick Murphy still sits in that same chair. He's still a paralytic. He still has no control over his body except for the fingers of his left hand with which he can punch down on typewriter keys.

"I'm doing all right now," he tapped out on his alphabet board. "In a few years I'll be sitting pretty."

It was two years before John's large, capable hands showed signs of life, then only the left one responded to his ceaseless flexing. One day he found he could clutch a pencil—and John Murray of Vancouver was a mystery man no longer.

Wife Rushes to Side.

"I spent days printing notes to my wife, my mother, my friends," he typed out.

"I's wife rushed down from Timmins."

"We decided there must be something I could still do. Then we hit on it—I'd write stories. The problem was solved—I thought."

"I had built a special table for me to sit a wheel chair. A typewriter company rented me a typewriter at a purely nominal sum. I thought I was made."

"For seven months I ground out type only to have it fired back in my face—with reason. Finally in March, 1942, came my first sale. Ten bucks—for 2,500 words. My wife was jubilant. Me too. We were made. I was a writer."

"But I didn't have another sale until August. After that my writing paid off better. I'm still clawing at the fringes, but I'm improving."

"My wife and I play a game. We pretend that I was interned in the first month of the war and that my exile will last only until hostilities cease. Could be."

"We are working for our own home again. She is a stout fellow—plenty of courage and the biggest heart in the world. Our boy, 14, is worth working for—he wants to be a doctor. The future looks very rosy for us."

Surgeon Shows Quality Of Mercy Not Strained

LONDON.—A local surgeon has his own interpretation for the word reform as disclosed in a story which centers about a youthful inmate of the London prison farm.

Several years ago, the prisoner stole an automobile. Some time later, he participated in an armed robbery during which he was shot and wounded gravely.

A surgeon who saved his life from the gunshot wound was the man whose auto the youth had stolen a few years earlier. And then the doctor announced he was anxious to aid the inmate, now serving a long sentence, when prison authorities consent to his release.

Trousers Stolen From Under Sleeper's Head

NEWARK, N. J.—This city's "panties burglar" added a new feat to his two-year record of successful burglaries, stealing the trousers concealed under the pillow of his sleeping victim's head, without waking the victim.

Oscar Singer, 55, a drugstore proprietor, discovered his pants and $220 missing when he awoke. He shouted to his son-in-law, Jerome Schick, who was sleeping in an adjoining bedroom.

Schick, who had left his pants on a chair, discovered they too were missing, together with $5.

SPEND, SUCKER, SPEND!

This article was written by Ralph de Castro for the Savings Banks of New York State to help the Government promote War Savings.

The last war . . . remember?

Milk shirts!
Pink ones, green ones, blue ones with white stripes—millions of them.

And silk stockings for the women—on legs that had never felt anything but cotton before.

Wrist watches . . . rings . . . bracelets . . . hand-tailored suits . . . ten-dollar felt hats . . . better, larger, sweller apartments.

Then it happened.
1918 and the Armistice. The war boom petered out. In factory after factory the wheels turned slower—slower—then stopped.

The cuffs on the silk shirts were frayed, and the colors faded . . . and the silk stockings were gone, and the rings and the watches were in pawn shops . . . and people moved back where they'd come from. But . . .

"Don't let it get you down, Bud! You can't hold this country back. God's country! Don't sell America short—why, with our natural resources—and the way we work . . ."

So we started on the second lap, on the same circular track.

1923-1929. Prosperity. Nothing ever like it before in the world.

Stocks—up 50 points in a week—thousands, millions—billions of dollars of profits—on paper.

Bootleggers . . . parties . . . automobiles . . . more silk shirts . . . new suits . . . radios, refrigerators, real estate, furniture, diamond rings, boats, shoes, hats . . .

Then—1929 and crash again!

"Sorry, Mr. Jones . . . more margin, or we'll have to sell you out . . . Dear Mr. Jones . . . unless you send us a check to cover two unpaid installments on your furniture . . . Dear Sir . . . in the hands of our attorneys unless . . . mortgages unpaid . . . worry . . . worry . . . sorry, Jones, better look around for a new job . . . no help wanted . . ."

Remember?

Bread lines . . . the Bonus Army . . . ex-soldiers selling apples on street corners . . . "brother, can you spare a dime?" . . . stocks going down—down—business failures . . . suicides . . . relief . . . N. R. A. . . . W. P. A. . . . C. C. C. . . . and no jobs yet, and shoes run down at the heels. And the kids—undernourished—crying a lot—and "the lost generation . . ."

How come? How did we get that way—again? Why did it happen here, when it couldn't happen here?

Well, let's look back—let's see how it did happen. Bonds weren't good enough for us. Savings banks weren't exciting as brokers' offices.

We were trying to compress our lives—to squeeze the juice of three score years and ten into a decade. We wanted for next to nothing the things our fathers had worked and sweated and saved for.

My wife's clothes had to be better, smarter—more expensive than your wife's—and her jewelry, too.

You spend a thousand dollars for your car? So what? I'm spending thirteen hundred for mine. (On time.)

And say—looka my new radio! Twenty-two tubes, three loud speakers, record changer, home recorder and three short-wave bands!

The old one? Oh, I traded it in when I bought the new one—and the new refrigerator, and the dining-room furniture—slick, eh?—"modern," they call it.

How much? What's the difference?—Twenty-four payments of eighty dollars instead of sixty-five! I'll never miss it . . .

Hold on a minute, brother . . .

Did we "miss it" in the early "thirties"? Did we "miss it" when some fifteen million men walked the street—camped out—lived in huts and shacks and lean-tos? Did we "miss it" while brave women scrubbed and scoured and patched and mended until their finger tips were raw, their hands rough—and their hearts dull with the pain of abandoned hopes?

Hold on once more . . .

This time chances are we won't bounce back again! Many people now realize what a close shave it was the last time . . . how desperately near we were to chaos and national ruin.

MUST we come with another crash? MUST we ignore, not one, nor two, nor three—but the dozens of lessons taught us by history? MUST we head straight along the road-to-ruin we took last time?

It's what's beginning to happen, right here—now—in our country.

People are making more money than they ever did before and spending it. Spending it faster than they ever did before.

The old "short-life-but-a-merry-one" story is back with us. But how merry IS it?

Where's the money coming from—"prosperity?" No . . . war. From the Business of Death we've been forced into. From things made to kill people.

From things made to kill other people so they won't kill us.

Win, lose, or draw, the war will end some day. No war has lasted forever.

Then what?

Those same war-factory wheels will again slow down and stop. Men will walk out of factories and hear the gates grid closed behind them—many of them to stay closed.

And maybe the green grass will grow between the stones of factory courtyards before the men will come back to work again . . . slowly . . . a few at a time.

The same as the last time? And the time before that?

Well, it shouldn't be, but it will be even worse—unless we use our common sense now!

There's no special Providence watching over this country, in spite of all our songs and slogans.

We're people—just like any other people.

Luckier, yes. Our land is fairer—endowed with more riches than any other lands. And we've worked hard—or used to, anyway. Nobody knows how much is left of American spirit and guts—yet. We think it's greater than before. The Japs and the Germans will find that out.

But listen, Mister . . .

Don't fool yourself! The time's going to come when you'll need those dollars you're throwing around now.

If hard times catch up with you, it isn't that nightclub proprietor who's going to return the money you spent in his place—no, not any part of it!

And all the unnecessary gimmicks and gadgets you think you need now won't be worth a dime on the dollar then.

And when your pockets are empty it won't be because you'll be taking money out of them—but because no money will be going into them.

How about those bright kids of yours? Will they have to work instead of going to high or college?

And those beautiful rings you bought your wife? Supposing you lose your job . . . how long can you last before pawning those baubles, for a fraction of what they cost you?

So look . . .

When you want to spend money or buy something new, just imagine you were spending your next-to-the-last dollar.

Don't ask how happy you'd be with what you get for your money—but whether you'd be miserable without it.

That's the only test. Otherwise you're just kidding yourself. Lighting matches to ten dollar bills you're going to need—sure some day.

What? Oh, you're making more money? Then save more—don't spend more!

Because the money we all save now will play a tremendous part in the after-war economy of our country. The money we save now will be a cushion of buying power—those sorely-needed dollars to "start things up again" in our civilian economy—to keep us from national bankruptcy until the wheels start moving again. The dollars you waste now may be the dollars you'll need then—yes, perhaps even for such matter-of-fact things as bread and milk and meat.

Why do you suppose your Government urges you to save? It's perfectly simple—to ward off disaster. To make sure that the crash that "couldn't happen here" doesn't happen again. So that possible (if not probable) after-war depression doesn't find you at the tail end of a bread line fifteen-million-people-long. So that a war we win by fighting won't be lost by waste.

Remember, we're at war! Dollars are needed just as much as men—to back up those men—to give your boy, your brother, or your pal the stuff he needs to beat the Axis, and come back alive.

Money wasted on foolish luxuries won't do this. Once spent, it's gone, and neither you nor the boys fighting for you are better off for the spending.

But the dollars you save in War Bonds or your saving account will help Uncle Sam buy the guns, the tanks, the ships and the planes we must have to survive and win.

And those savings will guarantee your future—the financial future of you, your family, and the boys who are fighting for us all.

Nobody can tell you what's going to happen after the war, of its searing effect on the Nation.

But somebody can tell you what will happen to you. You can.

Make a plan and stick to it. Guarantee your own future. So many dollars every payday into War Bonds and into your savings account.

Then, come hell or high water, follow your plan. Protect your family. Build up reserves. Create a stock of money and make it grow. Your money. Your Bonds. Your protection.

And the bigger the stock of savings you create, the better off you'll be—to buy the good things you will want when the war is over—that new car, that refrigerator and radio you can't get now—things that make American life the best in the world.

Meanwhile, helping yourself, your savings money will go to work helping your country, to provide fighting equipment for your boys to lick the Axis—homes for war workers—roads, railroad equipment and ships to transport war materials from the factory to the front. Your dollars working for Victory and Peace!

So, when you save wisely, you're helping your country and yourself at the same time.

Honest, now . . .

Could you ask for anything better?

IS HOPKINS ON ICE?
When Harry Hopkins moved out of the White House, some observers said he was losing out with the President, but when photographers for a national magazine took pictures of Harry's new house in Washington and showed him unpacking a brand-new, huge refrigerator, they knew he was still in the Inner Circle.

In case you don't know, new deluxe model refrigerators are a thing of the past and defense workers have trouble even finding a war model.

"ESSENTIAL TRAVEL"
A lot of taxpayers are wondering what was "essential" about the trip to Italy made by Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, whose picture was sent home by wire-photo. Considering the shortage of gas at home, the public is wondering why Henry also had to take along his press-agent, as he did. However, Henry explained to reporters that he went to Italy to learn what the boys are thinking. Avid, he said, they are thinking about the public debt. Now we know why he took his press-agent along.

PARTNERS OR INMATES?
An Ortonville merchant was notified that his firm does wholesale business in interstate commerce, and is therefore bound by provisions of the federal wage and hour law. It cost him several hundred dollars in over-time pay to two employees. "Thus there came to Ortonville," comments the Independent, "a harsh example of the stringent regulations imposed by the government."

In a village trading spot so small it is a village, maybe 30 miles from Montevideo, there are a few small stores. Proprietors learned recently when federal men called, that they are liable for social security taxes—plus 25% penalty.

A warning comes to country newspapers that a parent cannot legally employ his own children under 16 to work in his own print shop. With these three instances fresh in mind, the statement Samuel Blythe made some years ago rang the bell: "The United States used to be a cooperative institution in which the people were partners. Now it has become a corrective institution in which the people are inmates." — Montevideo (Minn.) News.
